Program Updates:

- Marin Coastal Permit Coordination Program – 2/3 permits have been received for the year. The most challenging permit is the County Creek permit which has steep fees and compliance requirements. Staff will need to look into opportunities to facilitate the approval process for county authorization.
- Urban Stream Coordinator – The USC has been busy planning and organizing a series of hands-on workshops and presentations that will be taking place throughout the months of September through December. Additionally, the USC attended a week long field course in Sagehen, CA with UC Berkeley to study fluvial geomorphology and stream ecology. Lastly, the USC attended a two-day certification workshop in Monterey with regard to rainwater harvesting through the American Rainwater Harvesting Systems Association. See USC Report for more information.
- Pine Gulch Restoration Project – Several construction meetings were held with engineering staff. Budget modifications have been necessary due to wet soils and wetland requirements. Construction challenges have caused changes to project designs and therefore permits have been modified to accommodate changes. Modifications prevent creek diversions for one farm however the project must be monitored to ensure water availability in future years. The project remains on schedule.
- Marin Carbon Project – Sent out 700 solicitation notices to landowners and received 20 applications which were ranked by committee using selection criteria. Nine sites will proceed to the next level of evaluation which will include site visits. Six sites will be chosen this year.
- Americano Creek Watershed – Sonoma County has adopted riparian corridor zone code changes. Gold Ridge RCD is using grant funding to implement work including installing riparian fence on an unnamed tributary to Americano Creek in the Estero Americano. They are also working with Sonoma Co Ag and Open Space on a tour.
- Tomales Bay/Walker Watershed – 1 Tomales Riparian project is in progress. 1 Tomales Grade Stabilization project is scheduled this month. 1 Dillon Beach Grade Stabilization repair is scheduled for this month. 1 Lagunitas Road project is in progress.
- Media/Outreach: “Edible” magazine for the Carbon Project.
- Grant Proposals: Working on Prop 1 grant proposal concepts. See above.
- District: Closing fiscal year and preparing for audit. Holiday Party.
- Landowner Requests: Attended no site visits. Sixteen requests for carbon planning/technical assistance were received. Assisted one landowner with permits.
